

Maximizing the Value of Information

Applying RIM Principles and Technology for Managing Records and Information

By applying RIM principles and appropriate technologies, organizations can improve the management of information.

This seminar will explore how aligning ARMA's Generally Accepted Recordkeeping Principles® with technology can maximize the value of an organization's information.

- Session 1: 8:30AM to 10:00AM
Using ARMA's Generally Accepted Recordkeeping Principles and Information Governance Maturity Model to Maximize the Value of Information

Break 10:00AM to 10:15AM
- Session 2: 10:15AM to 11:45AM
Applying Technology to Maximize Value

Lunch 11:45AM to 1:00PM
- Session 3: 1:00PM to 2:15PM
Exploring Information Solutions through Case Scenarios and Group Exercises

Break 2:15PM to 2:30AM
- Session 4: 2:30PM to 4:00PM
Benefits and Advantages of Maximizing Value
- Q&A: 4:00PM to 4:30PM

Presenters:

Margaret Hermesmeier, MLIS, CRM
Chief, Records Management Division
Office of the Attorney General of Texas

Kevin Waldrup, MBA, CRM
Records Management Administrator
City of Austin's Health & Human Services Department